

The Family, the State, and the Common Good

What do we expect of families? Which responsibilities should families carry, and when should the state step in?

Join us for a public discussion - open to all

Thursday 8 November 2018 at 6.45pm

Our panel: Philip Booth, Mark Molden
Sir Aynsley Green and Cathy Corcoran OBE

at St Mary's Church Putney historic home of the 1647 Putney Debates

Free, with drinks afterwards

Booking via Eventbrite <http://bit.ly/FamilyStateCG>

This debate is part of State, Society and Common Good, a series produced in partnership between Together for the Common Good, Theos think tank and the Benedict XVI Centre at St Mary's University Twickenham. The debates are sponsored by CCLA, one of the UK's largest ethical fund managers for charities, religious organisations and the public sector.

